

THOR HAN

On the 2020 Beirut underground explosion.

Thor Han: There were structures underneath this place, very deep, that were to be taken and liberated. It didn't go as expected. The project was to destroy and cleanse underneath the surface, but something failed and those inhabiting these undergrounds, seeing that they were about to be discovered, killed or taken prisoners, destroyed themselves. They decided to blow everything up, not to be taken, not for the Federation and the Terran governments to know what was in it. They blew everything and it was a terrible tragedy. All the troops died, the explosion was such that nothing remains, everything melted inside. They didn't use Terran weapons, they used a technology that comes from the star Betelgeuse, we call it Morna. This technology is able to destroy by melting matter, by fusion, similar as your atomic bomb but without the radiations. The radiations are different. Ciakahr use this technology to bore tunnels for instance, in your undergrounds, by melting rock. Used as an explosive, it can really cause damage. They had the technology already there, they didn't need to import it, it was there, they use this material to dig the tunnels, it is a machine who melts rock, if this machine is set to explosion, it can be really, really bad. There were a lot of captives but not only, they were conducting their technological experiments and hybridization experiments which were very unethical. Now, nothing exists any more.

On the Telosians

Thor Han: The ones you call the Telosians were named Selosi. When they migrated underground, they created their city Telos. That is when they started to be called the Telosians. Selo is in Alpha Centauri, you will one day enjoy all these things and many, many more in your lifetimes, all depends on you. This technology, we've given it to your scientists, but many of your leaders listen to what you call the Cabal, who block this knowledge. Scientists are shut down, threatened, we are aware that every time we provide this knowledge, we put the person in danger, sometimes we have hope that this person will do something with it and stand above everyone else, but they manage to silence and destroy the work, so whatever knowledge we give you, it is up to your leaders to let this knowledge be used. You already have all this, we gave this knowledge to you. It is up to your leaders to make it available, but we never know, Terrans are very surprising. I never, ever lose hope with you, you are so surprising, but you need motivation. That is something that goes against your evolution and against you, you often need to be slapped, hit, to be shocked, to decide to do something about it.
