

TESTIMONIAL BY BARBARA LEGENTIL

Friend of Elena Danaan, member of the Star Nation News French translation team and volunteer at “Rencontres Galactiques” events.

I'd like to complete my testimony with more personal information than I shared in my article in the PDFs above.

I was close to Mélanie in that I was part of her 3rd cohort (from October or November 2022 to February 2023) and we became friends over the months that followed the accompaniment. These cohorts were accompaniments designed to help Starseeds who wished to remember, find themselves and move on. I had high hopes for this accompaniment, as it included hypnosis sessions (at a distance, as I live in France and Mélanie and JC in Quebec), group coaching and 2 treatments by Jean-Charles. I was very happy and confident about what it had brought me, even if there were some dissonant things I'd noticed, particularly in relation to hypnosis.

I remember a group coaching session in which Melanie told us that Elena had to be careful what she said, as it could have far-reaching consequences for people. She had shared with us that Elena had stirred up trouble in her previous cohort with her warnings about therapists using the language of light and claiming to activate DNA. As this was part of Melanie's practice, one of the patients/clients had vehemently questioned her guidance in front of the whole group. She told us that following this incident, JC had called Elena and told her that she had made a mess of Melanie's work, and that afterwards Elena had made an explanatory video to defuse the problem. I remembered this video, in which she explained that she was talking about therapists with dubious practices, no integrity and working solely for money and ego, and that this did not include therapists with integrity. This video reassured me at the time, giving me confidence in Mélanie's work... With hindsight, the clarification of several elements, the confirmations... I no longer have the same perception. I deeply believe that despite her intention to help, which I believe was truly sincere, these practices were connected to black goo. This conclusion is mine alone and has not been verified.

I've always had great confidence in Elena's information, because right from the start it corroborated my own experiences on several subjects, confirmed my conclusions and answered my questions, particularly her warnings about channeling, which she was the only one to mention at the time. I finally had the answers or confirmation I'd been looking for. I followed all the information she shared assiduously and passionately. They resonated deeply with me, and it was a joy to see that her information was regularly corroborated by factual events in the news. This further strengthened my confidence in her work and contacts. And as time and revelations progressed, the more Elena's debunks corroborated my experiences, observations and conclusions.

Most of the time, when I said to Melanie, “Have you seen Elena's latest news? What she says about...”, Melanie would say ‘What's vibrating in your heart?’, “Does it resonate in your heart? I thought this was to encourage me not to hand over my power to the outside world and to think independently. During our discussions, she explained that disagreement didn't prevent love, which in itself is absolutely true. In fact, she had told me several times that she didn't always agree with Elena, but that didn't stop her from loving her.

The false information or lies of other French whistleblowers made me very angry, because in my opinion this manipulated the masses and was a serious act coming from “whistleblowers” who are supposed to tell people the truth and not manipulate them anymore. I found this very hard to accept. For me, people had to be warned of mistakes, they had to be warned of false information, it was visceral. She knew this and tried to temper me when I spoke to her privately and forcefully on the subject, explaining that “to each his own”, “one person's truth is not another's truth”, “if the person is convinced that it's true, then so be it”, “there is no absolute truth”... and that what mattered was to remain united, not to generate conflict between whistle-blowers because she didn't like that... So I tried to change my perception of things, not wanting to create conflict, although I felt a strong dissonance in this speech. What followed was a deeper understanding that all this talk is New-Age and is designed to silence people, to make them accept anything and everything, to make them believe that everything is the truth, to keep the masses in a state of illusion and lies.

One day, when I spoke out sincerely with Elena about a whistleblower because it shocked me, as it did Elena, that false information was being spread and taking masses of people in the wrong direction, Mélanie violently reproached me for “stirring up trouble”, even though I had spoken out sincerely with Elena in private and was defending the truth. I was deeply hurt and disappointed that the truth should be swept aside and punished in the name of a union based on lies. I couldn't see the difference between Deep State practices and this, within disclosure. This plunged me into silence, where I didn't dare say anything to anyone for fear of “stirring up trouble”.

After the water had gone under the bridge, I'd bring up the debunk page or other information from Elena. She'd say, “Just because Elena says it doesn't mean it's true”. The vibration wasn't the same as before, I felt uneasy. The time it really squeezed my heart and hurt was when she continued to maintain this when I pointed out that Elena's debunks had been validated by the GFW and that this was no small thing. Her response and vibration made me realize that she was questioning this too, and that in the end she wasn't really supporting Elena's work. Given that each time she said “listen to your heart, you're the one who knows”, I concluded that her heart wasn't in resonance with Elena's. And there were a number of small comments. And there had been several little remarks trying to show me that Elena was exaggerating in her words, distorting information... all based on private exchanges. The feeling I had was that Mélanie was trying to make me understand that I was praising Elena and that I lacked the clarity of vision and analysis to really see things through, like a disciple and his guru. Every time I did this, I had questions about Elena and her integrity. This was very upsetting and disturbing for me, but I always came back to the same conclusion and the same deep feeling after analyzing the elements: the integrity of Elena and her work was obvious.

At the time of the Olympics, I had quite a few exchanges with Mélanie, sharing my feelings about the opening and closing ceremonies. My feelings about the closing ceremony didn't match the positive message it actually delivered, which was later explained by the GFW, via Thor Han in an edition of Star Nation News. Still driven by the quest for truth and clarity within myself, I wanted to understand why there was this discrepancy between my feelings and the reality of the message I hadn't perceived. I simply wanted to understand what had happened to me at that moment, because I had (and still have) total confidence in the GFW, Thor Han, Elena and all her contacts. I knew they had integrity from the depths of my being. So, I shared my questions with Melanie, explaining what Thor Han had said (because they don't follow her Stars Nation News), to which she wrote back, “According to Elena...” That was in August 2024. Her implication was perfectly clear.

Then came GSIC 2024, which I attended. Dr Christiane Northrup's conference. An extraordinary woman. She plays a slide about the closing ceremony of the Olympic Games and gives her interpretation of the closing ceremony, which is not the same as that given by the GFW. The conference ends and I arrive at JC and Mélanie's stand. Immediately, without wasting a second, she tells me that Dr. Northrup is a hyper-aligned woman and that she doesn't agree with Elena either. I was shocked by her vibration because it wasn't a vibration that was looking for the truth. It was a vibration that wanted to convince me to stop believing what Elena was relaying. It was yet another confirmation. I must admit that I didn't feel at this GSIC what I had felt at the previous one. I felt a distance from them, something wasn't quite right. The vibrations were really weird. And that saddened me. I don't know if this has anything to do with it, but during this GSIC I was taken, to my great surprise, by a great sadness and melancholy, deeply wishing to return home (to my planet) and find my loved ones who I missed terribly, tired of being here. It had been such a long time since I'd felt it with such intensity. Stef Zak (and another friend I've lost through this story) can testify to this, as she stood beside me and supported me.

This is where I add my article in the PDF above about the smear campaign waged by Kevin, JC and Mélanie, including the ballet of GFW ships and the Earth Alliance's TR3B.

What's important to know is that my career path has led me to develop the ability to perceive and analyze the frequencies that pass through me, in order to be clear about what drives me. My vigilance is permanent. So before making my article public, I shared it on a private Telegram channel. A few moments after sharing it on this channel, informed by moles, Mélanie contacted me by messenger even though we were no longer in contact, asking for a video to "clear things up". I agreed, until I felt the "little girl in front of her mother" frequencies kicking in, making me cower. So, I cancelled the visio and blocked all contact with her to avoid any attempt at psychic manipulation. A few days later, I published my article.

For me, what counts is the truth of the facts and stopping everything that keeps minds in lies, confusion and delusion. What has happened is sad, disappointing and serious, because they have done a great deal of harm, not only to the people they were close to and who trusted them, but also to the disclosure movement and, in turn, to the liberation of Humanity. It was a betrayal fraught with consequences. When you have a mission as important as guiding people towards the truth that liberates, the responsibility is great. I sincerely believe that to serve the truth, you have to be driven by it, so that any personal interests that might keep you in the lie, in the illusion or in the ego, automatically take a back seat and ultimately dissolve. In my opinion, this is the only security. And I know that both Elena and Dani Henderson are driven by this.

Thank you to Elena and her contacts for accompanying us so well in this period of liberation and awakening of Humanity.
